

MGMT210 : Leadership and Organizational Behavior

This course is designed to introduce students to the study of leadership principles and group dynamics in organizations. Students will examine factors that influence human behavior in organizations including the organization's external environment, internal culture, reporting structures, psycho-social dynamics, individual/group incentives, and communication processes. Students will also explore leadership theories and concepts and apply this knowledge to leadership practice in healthcare organizations.

Credits 3