

BIOS120 : Cell Biology

This course is designed to give students an understanding of the structure and function of the cell. Topics will include the organization of the eukaryotic cell into organelles, metabolism of the major macromolecules in the cell, the central dogma of molecular biology, cell motility and division, as well as signal transduction.

Credits 4

Concurrent

BIOS120L Cell Biology Lab.